Bolter Morse Wants To Vote As Republican

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse's decision to vote with the Republicans on the organization of the Senate despite his bolt from the party still left unanswered today whether disciplinary action will be taken against him.

Republican senators have been reluctant to say if they plan to strip the Oregon senator of the seniority he has acquired by his eight years of service in the Senate, and of his choice assignments on the Senate Armed Services and Labor Committees.

Turned Against Ike
Morse quit the Republican party and declared himself an independent during the presidential campaign after turning against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and throwing his support to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee.

He announced Saturday, however, that he would vote with the Republicans on organizing the new Senate in the belief that the incoming administration of President-elect Eisenhower should have full responsibility for the conduct of the government.

But he said he would nonetheless maintain his status as an independent and would not participate in either Republican or Democratic caucuses.

Oklahoma Hunts Church Vandals

TOKAWA, Okla. (AP) — A State Crime Bureau agent and Baptist minister agreed today they do not believe the group which broke into five churches last week end, mutilating the interiors of some and burning others, was just a bunch of prankish youngsters.

Instead, they hinted it might be the work of a subversive group or possibly a deranged mind.

On the wall of one of the churches the penciled words "Go to hell" were scribbled grotesquely. Ministers and aroused townspeople in this city of 3,643, aided by state authorities, mapped plans to nab the vandals in the event of another raid. Guards were placed in churches in this and neighboring cities.

"We've got to catch them," said Crime Bureau Agent Sid Wilson. "We want to save other churches in this area from the same treatment."

American flags, Bibles, and religious furniture appeared to be the prime targets of the vandals. The Rev. J. M. Gaskin of the Baptist Church theorized:

"The only motive, we believe, is a subversive action aimed primarily at the flag of the United States, the Bible and the church."

Mother And Children Burned To Death In Hunting Lodge Fire

RIDGWAY, Pa. (AP) — A young mother and her three children burned to death yesterday on the eve of the Pennsylvania deer season in a raging fire set off by an explosion in a two-room hunting lodge at nearby Sackett.

Killed were Mrs. Helen Mason, 27, of Meadville, Pa., her daughter Mary Jane, 7, and two sons Charles Jr., 4, and John, 13 months.

The father, Charles Mason Sr., 35, was burned critically. Norman Keeler, 17, of Meadville, a cousin of Mrs. Mason's suffered a slight face cut.

State police said the blast occurred when the father attempted to start a fire in the lodge's stove with kerosene.

Kavanagh Retires

DETROIT (AP) — Giles Kavanagh, for 17 years collector of internal revenue for Michigan, will be honored Wednesday night at a testimonial dinner. Kavanagh is retiring because of a bureau reorganization that abolishes his post. One of the banquet speakers will be George E. Neal, newly appointed as district commissioner of internal revenue.

TRIXIE'S STILL TROUPING — Trixie Friganza, "Champagne Girl" of the Gay '90's, celebrated her 81st birthday on Nov. 29, at Sacred Heart Academy in Flintridge, Calif., where she has been confined to bed with arthritis for several years. The actress and musical comedy star, once the toast of an earlier generation, says she is the "world's luckiest woman," because so many people remember her triumphs of stage and screen.

Legal Opinion Backs Firing Of U. S. Reds From Staff Of U. N.

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations had high legal opinion today to back up firings by Secretary General Trygve Lie to weed out of the U.N. American Communists and those who won't say whether they have been Reds.

Lie's panel of three international jurists said in a 50-page opinion that under staff regulations and U. S. laws the secretary-general can and should:

1. Fire any U.N. staff employee who is an active member of the American Communist party.
2. Fire any employee accused of espionage, subversion or membership in an organization declared subversive who refuses to answer questions by a U. S. grand jury or Senate subcommittee on the grounds that his answer might incriminate him.

Senate Quiz Resumed
Either situation, the jurists said, is incompatible with being an international civil servant in the employ of the U.N.

The jurists are William de Witt Mitchell, New York lawyer and U. S. attorney general under President Hoover; Sir Edwin Herbert, leading London attorney prominent in banking and insurance circles; and Paul Veldeken, professor of law at the Catholic University of Louvain, Belgium, and president of the Belgian Supreme Court defense lawyers.

Their opinion was made public last night as the McCarran Senate subcommittee on internal security prepared to resume today its hearings in New York on communism in the U. N. A specialized agency of the world organization, the International Monetary Fund, was to be under scrutiny.

Future Policy Guided
The trio's findings are not binding on Lie but are expected to have a strong bearing on future U.N. (Please Turn To Page 6, Col. 7)

Michigan Again Has Wheat King
CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan, for the second time in a row, has the wheat king of North America.

He is 40-year-old Spencer Dunham, of Caro, and officials of the International Livestock Exposition had to run him down on a hunting trip to inform him that he had won the title with a sample he had sent in between previous hunting trips.

Dunham called off the deer hunting and came to Chicago yesterday to accept the championship award Wednesday.

Dunham lives only two and a half miles from Harold Metcalf of Fairgrove, Mich., who was 1951 wheat king and broke a long-time monopoly held by Canadian growers. Only four Americans have won the crown since the hay and grain show became a part of the International in 1919.

Mrs. Dunham, informed by telephone of her husband's good luck, telephoned him at an Oscoda deer hunting camp. He took off immediately, arriving home at midnight, then left at 8 a. m. Sunday for Chicago.

Dunham's sample of soft, white winter wheat of the Yorkville variety weighed 59.6 pounds to the bushel.

Famous Evangelist Rillv Graham Hopes To Preach In Korea

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham left Albuquerque for Los Angeles last night, still unsure whether his proposed visit to Korea will be permitted.

Jerry Beaven, Graham's executive secretary, will meet in Washington today with Defense Department officials to settle the question.

Graham said Saturday he had been denied permission to make the trip. The Defense Department explained he had been denied sponsorship of the Armed Forces Chaplains Board because of previous commitments.

The department said he could go without the chaplains' sponsorship if he could obtain military clearance.

Graham said he would go to Korea to preach the gospel "even if I have to go as a comedian."

Convention Split On Election Of New President

By NORMAN WALKER
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin today urged the CIO to negotiate a quick merger with the AFL to present the incoming Republican national administration with a solid union front.

Tobin sounded the call in a speech given at the opening session of the CIO convention as the 700 delegates remained badly split over selecting a successor to the late CIO President Philip Murray.

Walter P. Reuther, 45-year-old president of the million-member CIO United Auto Workers, was regarded as having the inside track for the CIO presidency but forces backing CIO Executive Vice President Allan S. Haywood, 64, were far from conceding defeat.

Warned Against GOP
Tobin said organized labor is in danger of its gains under the 20-year Democratic regime being undermined by the new Republican administration. The Democratic Cabinet member went on to say:

"The past gains of the American working men and women are in jeopardy. Their future progress is in doubt. This is a time to close ranks and present a united front against labor's enemies. This is a time, more than any other, for unity in the American labor movement."

George Meany, recently selected as the new president of the American Federation of Labor following the death of William Green, has urged the CIO to renew previously fruitless unity talks. Murray died Nov. 9, Green Nov. 21.

A CIO reply is expected at this week's convention.

Floor Fight Promised
The tilt between the competing Reuther and Haywood forces was very close. Reuther's own auto workers' union was the heart of his support, but he also claimed the votes of the electrical, textile, maritime and clothing workers unions.

Haywood's main support came from the steelworkers' union, also more than a million strong. He claimed support too, from the communications workers union and a group of more than a score of small CIO unions.

Michael J. Quill, chief of the CIO Transport Workers, headed up the smaller union group and pledged that the fight for Haywood would continue right to the convention floor.

Most top CIO officials wanted to avert any open convention fight between the rival factions, however.

Future Policy Guided
The trio's findings are not binding on Lie but are expected to have a strong bearing on future U.N. (Please Turn To Page 6, Col. 6)

Felons With Knives Make Escape From Pittsburgh Prison
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Eight convicts, described as "armed and dangerous," used razor sharp knives to overpower four guards and a deputy warden at Western State Penitentiary yesterday. They escaped by sliding down a 70-foot wall on a long rope made of sheets and towels.

A ninth convict also got out but 30 minutes later he surrendered meekly in front of the prison gates. A 10th was caught on the roof before he could flee.

Guards Wounded
Police of all nearby states were alerted in the manhunt for the eight convicts, who apparently executed a carefully planned escape for their successful flight.

In the brief fracas before they went over the wall two prison guards were wounded slightly.

Six of the escapees got away in an automobile they stole from a steel company employee standing guard near a coal pile.

The other two just ran away. The prison guards injured were John Peterman, 38, nicked in the back with a knife, and William Engle, cut on the hand as he tried to seize a knife from the hand of Virgil Toney, 43-year-old robber from Ingram, Pa.

Hole Cut In Ceiling
The break came as the men marched back to the north cellblock after breakfast. Toney and the others seized the four guards and Howard Brannan, 65-year-old military men and dependents.

Death Toll 37 In Air Tragedy
TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The number of dead in the crash of an inbound C54 near here early Friday stood at 37 today, with only two survivors.

The death Saturday of airman 2nd C. Bobby R. Wilson, Ft. Worth, Tex., wiped out the seven-man crew of the four-engine military transport based at Great Falls, Mont. The others died in the crash.

Still in critical condition are Curtis Redd, Air Force man from Fairfax, S. C., and Joseph Iacovitti, 8, Bridgeport, Pa. The lone survivors among the 29 passengers en route home from Alaska for the holidays. The C54 carried both military men and dependents.

Dice Den Raided At River Rouge

DETROIT (AP) — State police raided an elaborate, alleged gambling place in River Rouge early Sunday, seizing 50 men, $1,300 in cash and dice and other gaming devices.

Complaints of wives who said their husbands had squandered their pay checks at the place led to the raid.

The police descended on the establishment about 1 a. m., breaking through two doors with axes to get inside.

Forty-three men, accused as loiterers, paid $1.55 in fines and costs at an immediate court session conducted by Justice of the Peace Roy H. Hall in the City Hall.

Seven others were held on charges of maintaining and operating a gambling place.

The address is that of the River Rouge Angling and Social Club.

Detective Sgt. Frederick David of the Redford State Police Post, one of the leaders of the raid, said women had complained that their husbands had lost money at the place.

"One wife told us her husband had lost $5,000," David said. David described the gambling as "big time."

Gunman, 19, Held In Adrian Killing

ADRIAN (AP) — A teen-aged gunman was held today in the slaying of a 60-year-old general store proprietor who managed to wound his assailant with a meat cleaver before he died.

Victim of the Saturday night holdup was F. J. Hathaway, who was shot three times at his store in Clayton, 14 miles west of here.

Russell J. Simpson, 19, of Clayton, was taken Sunday to the Lenawee County Jail here after treatment at University Hospital in Ann Arbor for wounds in the left arm and behind the left ear.

Sgt. William W. Gill of the Blissfield State Police Post said the youth told him he tried to hold up Hathaway's store, but the elderly proprietor grabbed the meat cleaver.

Gill quoted Simpson as saying he fired several shots and Hathaway hit him twice with the cleaver in the battle that followed. Before he fell, mortally wounded, Hathaway threw the cleaver at the intruder, Gill reported.

Polio Fund Sends Delta County $2500

LANSING (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis today announced it had sent checks totaling $48,750 in March of Dimes funds to five Michigan county chapters to bolster depleted treasuries.

Wayne County received $40,000; Bay $2,100; Cass $1,150; Delta, $2,500 and Livingston $3,000.

The additional money will be used to continue payment of hospital and medical bills of victims of polio.

The latest amount brings to $545,100 the total the parent organization has advanced to Michigan chapters in this epidemic.

Eisenhower Uses Day To Check On Pressing International Affairs

By MARTIN POST
NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower turns his attention today to international affairs again today after a busy week end during which he named two top foreign staff officers.

His appointment list for today, as announced by Secretary Arthur Vandenberg Jr., is composed almost exclusively of the men who will carry the burden of the incoming administration's foreign problems.

Peak Where 52 Died Is Mapped

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A helicopter crew surveyed the slopes of snow covered Mt. Ganett today mapping a track for a 12-man ground party assigned to recover the bodies of 52 persons killed in the crash of a C124 Globemaster.

The Air Force said the helicopter also will be used to fly the ground party to a base camp to be set up at the 4,000-foot level. From there the trail crew will climb to the crash scene at about the 8,000-foot level on Surprise Glacier.

Search officials estimated the job of recovering the bodies may take two weeks.

The Globemaster transport crashed Nov. 22 while on a flight from McChord Air Force Base, Wash., to Elmendorf Air Force Base here.

Dr. Terris Moore, University of Alaska president and an Air Force officer, landed in a light ski-equipped plane on the glacier Friday.

Dr. Moore said on his return here Saturday the Globemaster was flying at full speed when it struck a peak near the summit of the mountain. All aboard met instant death.

Accidents Make Tragic Holiday
(By The Associated Press)

Michigan's first post-Thanksgiving Day weekend was a tragic aftermath to the holiday.

At least 26 persons died from violence, including automobile wrecks and fires.

Another four men were missing and believed lost on a plane trip.

A series of home fires took five lives. Three of the victims were babies.

Auto smashups killed 18 persons. Two men were struck and killed by trains.

A farm accident killed a boy. An intensive search including most of Michigan and Canada's Georgian Bay region was resumed today for the missing plane with four Canadian football fans aboard.

The craft disappeared Friday after taking off from Houghton, enroute to Toronto. It was believed to have run into a blinding snow storm.

More than 40 Michigan Civil Air Patrol planes and eight planes from the RCAF station at Centralia, Ont., participated in the air search Saturday and Sunday.

Stassen Says Future Of Foreign Aid Hangs On Eisenhower's Trip

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The future of the U. S. foreign aid program in the Far East depends largely on President-elect Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea, says Harold E. Stassen.

Stassen, recently named by Eisenhower to head the Mutual Security Agency in the new administration, appeared yesterday on the American Broadcasting Company radio and television show "Junior Press Conference."

The Korea visit, the president of the University of Pennsylvania said, should place the general in close contact with changing conditions in the Pacific and Asiatic areas.

Soo Lock Closed

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Because of the decline of ore carriers going through the Sault locks from Lake Superior, the Poe lock on the American side has been closed. Three other locks are expected to remain in operation until the end of the Great Lakes Shipping season, about Dec. 31.

Hunting Season Takes 39 Lives; 14 Gun Deaths

(By The Associated Press)
Michigan's 16-day deer hunting has ended with a death toll of 39. Gunfire claimed 14, heart attacks 23 and drownings two.

In addition at least 62 were wounded, compared with 57 for the 16-day 1951 season, when only 13 were killed by gunfire.

The season which ended at sundown Sunday drew more than half a million into the woods, and the bag was estimated tentatively at 250,000. Both the number of hunters and the bag are new records.

Hunters concentrated the last three days in the upper counties of the Lower Peninsula, where any deer was legal game. An Ionia newsman counted more than 100 cars returning through that city with deer, most of them does, in a brief period Sunday.

The "any deer" season was designed to reduce the herd in overgrazed areas where winter starvation has been high in recent years. Except for the final three days only bucks could be shot anywhere.

The 14th gunfire victim reported was Michael Soscak, 41, of Roscommon, mortally wounded by a stray bullet in Crawford County Sunday.

The 13th reported was William Kusisto, 16, of Bessemer, hit in the head by a bullet Saturday in Gogebic County. Eugene Maki, 38, also of Bessemer, was arrested on a charge of careless use of firearms in connection with the death.

Maki, released under $500 bond, claimed he was aiming at a deer which came between him and Kusisto.

High Tension Missing In Michigan Recount

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING (AP) — There's a lack of the high purpose—and high tension—in this year's governorship recount which marked that of 1950.

But it's worth taking a run-down on Michigan's 1950 recount because it will be the model for this year's second edition between Gov. Williams and Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr.

Officials Grumpy
Two years ago, in the first state-wide recount for governor ever held, the State Board of Canvassers had to blaze an entirely new trail.

General public acceptance of that trail convinces the board this year to follow the same path—even to getting into the same legal squabbles.

Two years ago there was much talk about the "sanctity of the ballot." This year recount officials are kind of grumpy.

Starts Week Later
Two years ago, the recount started Dec. 2 in Wayne County.

Tiger Woman Back Under Guard After 46 Hours In Hideout

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A quiet woman of 49, still intent on proving her sanity after a score of years, sat alone today in a carefully guarded room at the State Hospital for the Insane.

This was the notorious Winnie Ruth Judd, the "Tiger Woman" of 1931, who killed her two best girl friends, chopped up their bodies and shipped them in a trunk to Los Angeles.

Found In Closet
After her sixth escape from the antiquated hospital Mrs. Judd surrendered again Saturday night. Her new freedom had lasted 46 hours.

Hospital authorities took immediate steps to make the flight of the mad murderer her last.

Guards were assigned 24 hours a day to her room, regarded as the "most secure" of the hospital building, and Dr. M. W. Conway, superintendent, directed that she leave the room only twice a day—for walks with attendants inside the walled hospital patio.

When two Phoenix detectives found the wily Winnie Ruth hiding in a closet at the home of her appointed guardian, she begged for a new sanity hearing.

Life Sentence Waiting
Cowering under a pile of clothes, she pleaded:

"Why don't you leave me alone? I want to get a job and see some people. I'm tired of being locked up."

Conway said neither he nor the hospital's medical staff would oppose such a hearing before a court-impaneled jury.

But, he said, each would testify that the crafty Mrs. Judd is still insane.

Should she be declared sane, she would face recommitment to the state prison at Florence to begin serving a life sentence.

Labor Demand Continues Dip

Total non-farm employment in Delta and Schoolcraft counties continued its downward trend in November, for the second consecutive month.

The total of employed persons decreased by about 100 workers in November, Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security commission, said today.

However, current non-farm employment is approximately 300 larger than it was a year ago. Employment in the construction industry is greater and a major manufacturing concern has added approximately 200 additional workers.

Minor losses in November were suffered in miscellaneous manufacturing, construction and the service industries. During the past two months, employment in several major manufacturing concerns has been erratic due to lack of orders, but it is anticipated that this will be stabilized within 30 to 60 days.

Employment will probably continue its downward trend during the next month or two due to termination of seasonal industries, and curtailment of other industries because of winter weather, Dixon reports.

Due to curtailment of seasonal activities, labor demand decreased considerably in November. Current job openings were very limited and were for the most part jobs that are hard to fill, Dixon notes.

The labor supply far exceeds the present labor demand. A major portion of those registered for work are women, men over 45, and men and women under 21, the MESCC manager states.

As of Nov. 26 this year, there were 825 unemployed in Delta and Schoolcraft counties, out of a total labor force of 13,145. This is 100 more than a month ago but only 25 more than a year ago.

Marlene Piontek 4-H Delegate To New York Meet

Marlene Piontek, 16-year-old daughter of Max Piontek of Bark River, will be one of three U. P. 4-H Club members who will attend the National Junior Vegetable Growers Convention in New York as a delegate chosen for her past year's work in her 4-H Club.

She will be in a delegation of 30 youths from Michigan who will participate in the 5-day conference beginning Dec. 7.

Her selection as a delegate came as a result of her achievements this year in the 4-H dairy, clothing and gardening projects, according to the county 4-H office.

She has finished three years of dairy club work, two years of work in the clothing phase and one year in gardening.

The three U. P. delegates, accompanied by Ben Westrate, assistant state 4-H club leader of Marquette, will meet the Michigan delegation in East Lansing Dec. 5 and proceed to New York by chartered bus.

During the convention the delegates will visit the New York Wholesale Vegetable Market, participate in sight seeing tours of New York's points of interest, and view judging and demonstration contests in gardening.

Yule Programs Planned Here

Turkey-stuffed Escanaba youngsters today trudged back to classes with the thought of the soon-to-come Christmas vacation brightening their daily routine of classes.

Many of them now are beginning to rehearse for Christmas programs to be presented in about three weeks, by both public and parochial schools.

Grade school students in St. Joseph school this morning began rehearsals for an operetta, "Christmas in Mexico," which will be presented Dec. 21 in Bonifas auditorium. The St. Joseph High School Glee Club and the school orchestra also will be heard in the Christmas program.

The high school band, orchestras and vocal groups will perform, under direction of Robert S. Meyer, Mrs. Clara Somers and Miss Jeanne Bunks. Tickets for this concert go on sale tomorrow and will be obtainable from any music student.

In the Junior High School here, members of the speech club are now rehearsing a one-act play, "A Christmas Promise," which will be presented in mid-December for students, and possibly for parents. Choral readings and a musical background supplement the Christmas play, which is directed by Charles Koskela.

The Christmas vacation for public school students here begins Dec. 20 and extends to Jan. 5. In all, it'll be a short time between turkey dinners.

Polio Mother Runs House In Iron Lung

By HOWARD CHEYN

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ann Huff is rearing her children and running her household from an iron lung.

She does it by telephone. The pretty 30-year-old polio victim has been in the respirator for three years. She can move her head from side to side, just a little. Otherwise, she's totally paralyzed.

But she's cheerful and full of hope, and she says her home runs as smoothly as it did before she was stricken.

Cheek Gets Central
The mouthpiece of Mrs. Huff's phone is much like that of a headset, and is in a special mounting. It curves up along the left side of her face. On the other side is a switching gadget with a slim, sensitive lever. When she brushes this lever with her cheek she makes contact with a central operator, who takes her number. To disconnect, she grasps the lever with her teeth. The slight pull of this biting motion is sufficient to break the circuit.

Her two sons, Hank, 8, and Johnnie, 5, look up numbers for her. A list of important ones is pasted on the back of her respirator mirror. These include fire, police and other emergency numbers, so that she can safely be left alone for reasonable periods of time.

"This has given me my first feeling of independence in three years," she said today. "I order the groceries by phone. I order the children's clothing by phone. If they aren't right, I send them back. I even tell the barber how I want him to cut Johnnie's hair." Her Christmas shopping? It's all done.

In Hospital Two Years
Mrs. Huff spent two years in a hospital. When she came home it was to a new house. Her husband, Henry Huff, a vice president of Slick Airways, planned it with her respirator in mind. Mrs. Huff has a special room from which she can see by mirror into the living room and, through a picture window, to the tree-lined street beyond. The other direction her room looks out upon the garden. Doorways are wide enough to accommodate the respirator; entrances are equipped with ramps.

"My chief determination is to live as normal a life as possible," says Mrs. Huff. "That's why I felt I just had to get out of the hospital. Hank and Johnnie had been with their grandmother, but I decided that since they were my children I should be rearing them."

"My goal is a portable chest respirator," she confided. "Then I can go to the beach with the boys."

Evidence was obtained by officers in plain clothes who entered the hotel a few minutes before the other officers raided the establishment.

Shraonel Kills Marine As He Writes To Wife

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, (AP)—Late afternoon sunshine streamed through a small slit in a front-line bunker.

It broke the chilly gloom in the bunker and made a pool of light on the tightly packed dirt floor.

There was heavy firing outside but the young Marine could feel secure. The shelter was strong, burrowed into a little brown hill and reinforced by heavy beams and sandbagging.

Wears Big Grin

The Marine was 21, dark-haired, clean-cut, medium build. He had been in Korea only a few months. The men of his platoon like him. He was always in good humor—particularly since the day he got word that a son had been born to his wife.

He wore a big grin that day—and for days after. His happiness warmed his buddies.

His job was to maintain an observation post overlooking the front. Every now and then the Marine went to the slit in the bunker and watched the incoming and outgoing mortar and artillery.

That could mean a rough night ahead.

Sunshine Slit Fatal

The Marine decided to write a letter to his young wife. He placed an empty box near the only illumination, the shaft of sunshine which stabbed through the slit in the heavily reinforced wall.

Nobody knows just how far he got with the letter.

With a dreadful blasting roar, a Communist mortar shell landed directly outside the bunker. Two steel fragments found their way through the narrow slit, one fragment slashed the Marine's jugular vein. He fell to the dirt floor, clawing at his neck with a choking, helpless cry. The other fragment desecrated his last letter.

The Marine's life welled out quickly onto the dirt floor, a thick red flow that oozed into the little pool of sunshine.

Wife Dies In Grave Beside Her Husband

BARKINGSIDE, England (AP)—Mrs. Anne Bowring, 66, often went to the cemetery to sit beside the grave of her husband, who died two years ago.

She was missing four days. Then her daughter found her at the cemetery. "She looked as if she were asleep," the daughter said. "It was as if she had gone there to hide from all her troubles."

The mother was dead—in an open grave near her husband.

She apparently had pushed a plank aside, climbed in and pulled the plank back over her as she waited for the end.

POSTER GIRL?—This picture of Toni Bal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bal of Gladstone, is being submitted to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the hope it will be selected for the foundation's annual poster. She returned a few weeks ago from St. Luke hospital in Marquette and now is receiving physical therapy treatments here. The foundation poster is used in connection with its annual March of Dimes drive. (Daily Press Photo)

Far North Defense Ring Has Gaps For Russian Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

(Editors Note: Elton C. Fay, Associated Press Military Affairs reporter, writes the following article from a background of first-hand experience. Fay has visited the North Pole, the remote Alaskan and Greenland air bases, and other defense projects in the icy wastelands of the Far North.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Broad gaps appear in the outer arc of the defense system along the North American continent over which bombers from Russia could fly toward targets in the United States.

Although the joint and intensive efforts of this country and Canada have succeeded in getting a radar system into operation which may detect an approaching enemy, bases are lacking from which interceptors could challenge raiders at some points along the vast perimeter.

Big Bases Ready

On the basis of recent official disclosures and visits by newsmen, the Far North defense picture looks like this:

At the northwest end: A system of major and secondary airfields, together with facilities for ground troops to defend them, now exists in Alaska, where the United States is a next door neighbor of Russia. Neither complete complements of planes nor of ground forces are there, but present strength can be augmented swiftly by flying men and planes from the United States.

At the northeast corner: Virtual completion of a huge bomber and fighter base at Thule brings to three the number of American-operated air fields in Greenland. Together with those Greenland units of the Northeast Air Command are other bases in Labrador and New Foundland.

Distances Are Handicap

But along a 1,500-mile stretch of wasteland and frozen sea between Greenland and a point in Canada near Alaska there exist few if any fields capable of sending up a substantial force of interceptors. The radar eyes might see an enemy along the rim, but it would remain up to fighter bases farther down in Canada and in the United States to provide the interception.

A somewhat similar situation exists in Greenland. The three presently operating USAF bases are located at Narsarsuaq, at Sondrestrom Fjord just north of the Arctic Circle; and at Thule, near Cape York, on the northwestern corner, about 900 miles from the North Pole.

Tactically, this present system has disadvantages. The distances between bases, one of which must be used as an alternate field for another in event of bad weather or damage to a plane in flight, is great—800 miles in some instances. There are no fields now in regular operating use along the entire east coast of Greenland.

Denmark Cooperates

Greenland is a territory of Denmark and the American bases are there by agreement with the Danish government. The building of any new bases or rehabilitation of old World War II bases would require the approval of Denmark which, like Canada and the United States, is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

There have been indications that the U. S. might be interested in improving the air base system in Greenland and elsewhere in the arctic area. Routine surveys are being made to determine the feasibility of locations, if and when definite planning for base construction is needed in the future.

Air Secretary Thomas F. Bess, in testifying before a congressional committee earlier this year, said it was essential that "we have additional bases abroad for use of fighter planes" to protect strategic bombers and their bases.

He was speaking in general terms and mentioned no particular base or country, but one of the newest and most important strategic bases now is Thule, within reach of Russian territory.

Earlier this month reports were current in Copenhagen that the U. S. planned to establish several more bases in Greenland, with work to be done by a syndicate of Danish contractors.

Diplomatic sources in Copenhagen and in Washington, where the State Department always is sensitive to publication of reports which might disturb Denmark, insisted the rumored project concerned only improvements at Narsarsuaq.

However, this reaction raised the question of whether improvements also might be contemplated for one or more of the presently inactive wartime bases on the southeast and west coasts of Greenland.

Recount Will Help To Show How State Election Machinery Works

FOR the second time in two years, a recount of the votes cast in the state's governorship race has been ordered.

Two years ago the reelection of Gov. Williams was confirmed in a recount requested by his opponent, former Governor Kelly. That recount was never completed because as it progressed, the lead of Williams, less than 2,000 in the official canvass, was extended.

The election recount two years ago did, however, show the shabby manner in which elections were being conducted in many parts of the state. There were no evidences of outright dishonesty but there were innumerable cases of faulty election procedures and slipshod handling of the ballots.

The lead of Gov. Williams is greater this time than it was two years ago. The official canvass shows the governor leading his opponent, Fred Alger by 8,618 votes. It is, however, an extremely small margin considering the heavy vote. As Alger pointed out in a statement announcing his plans for the recount, the margin of Williams' lead represents less than one-third of one percent of the total vote cast. Under the circumstances, it is apparent that a recount is in order to be certain that the winner actually received the largest total of valid votes.

Even if there is no material change in the final tabulations after the recount is completed, the procedure will be valuable in determining how well, or how poorly, the election officials did their jobs this time. It will show whether the faults discovered in the 1950 recount were corrected.

It is significant that the election recount will not be concerned with precincts in the state that have voting machines. These figures have been accepted without challenge by both sides. Obviously this fact alone should serve to encourage more voting machines in Michigan in the future. The City of Detroit already is moving as rapidly as it can to the handling of its huge vote entirely on voting machines. Ultimately we can only hope that the job will be done throughout the state in this manner. The attitudes of the two principals in the recount, Governor Williams and GOP Candidate Alger are particularly noteworthy. In requesting a recount in 1951 precincts, Alger emphasized that he is seeking to remove any question of the right of the next governor to the office, adding that he is not charging any fraud.

Governor Williams likewise endorsed the idea of the recount with a statement pointing out that the recount will provide new information on how the state's election machinery has been functioning under existing law.

Americans, Too, Can Take A Bow

FLYING the great oceans long ago became routine. But this has not meant that there are not more worlds for commercial aviation to conquer. The introduction of jet airliners this year was one demonstration that the frontier still is advancing.

Now we have another sign: the trail-blazing flight virtually across the top of the earth from California to Denmark by a Scandinavian airliner.

The pioneer trip took the plane from Los Angeles to Edmonton, Alberta, across the frozen wastes of northern Canada, to a point near the magnetic North Pole, to a big Air Force base at Thule, Greenland, and thence to Copenhagen. The 5800-odd miles were covered in 28 hours, including about four hours on the ground at various bases.

The idea of normal commercial operations over frozen lands that but a few years ago were familiar only to explorers is truly astounding. That such a route should even be proposed is a measure of the courage and vision that mark the men in aviation today.

The inducements for this bold venture are clear—a saving of 1000 miles and some four hours' flying time, with all that means in fuel, personnel operations, maintenance problems, and the like.

But while we are doffing our hats to the Scandinavians who soon will begin regular scheduled flying over this route, we ought not to overlook the part we Americans played in making it possible. The great military base at Thule, built by us in collaboration with the Danes, is an indispensable element in this daring plan. And the planes which will fly the Arctic airlines will be American DC-6Bs, already proven workhorses of domestic and overseas service.

WAH, OR WAY?

Is it I-o-wah or I-o-way? The dictionaries say "wah." But anyone who has heard a grandstand full of fervid Hawkeyes right from "where the tall corn grows" roaring "I-o-way, I-o-way!" should have his doubts. Isn't the right way to pronounce the name of a place the way those who live in the place pronounce it? (It's Quincy, not Quincy, in Massachusetts, and Care-o, not Cairo, in Illinois.)

Iowa was named after the Ioway Indians. And we were all ready to urge good Iowans to question the dictionaries and to ask the original inhabitants when we read that the Ioways are still very much alive. In fact, they have just invested a new chief with the necklace of bear claws, the beaded vest, and the deer-tail headress which are the symbols of his office.

But now, after reading on, we entertain doubts whether these latter-day Indians know how their name should be pronounced anyway. Their ceremonies featured a tenor singing "My Wild Irish Rose."

Perhaps we should refer the Iowah-Ioway controversy to that Beacon Hill dowerer who once interposed sweetly, "In Boston we pronounce it Oh-high-oh."

Science says that a snail's pace is about 15 feet per hour—which reminds us of a lot of Sunday drivers.

An optimist is any person who eats windfall apples in the dark.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the biggest and most brazen of all 5-percent deals has just come to light. It involves former Assistant Secretary of Defense, Paul Griffith, ex-commander of the American Legion, who with his partner, has made a profit of $210,000 on a government contract.

Their total take in helping to arrange the sale of cobalt to the U. S. government was to be $835,000. However, the sale has been stopped by alert Jess Larson, head of General Services, with $625,000 still to be paid.

The cobalt contract was not between the government and Griffith. It was with a Canadian company, Silver Miller Mines, LTD., of Toronto. Griffith and his associate, Maxwell Brown, were merely the agents. Yet they have already been paid $210,000 as their middleman fee, and were scheduled to receive $625,000 more.

This makes them not mere run-of-the-mill 5 percenters, but super-duper 5-percenters.

Though Democrats usually have been the chief beneficiaries of government contracts, Griffith happens to be a Republican, appointed Assistant Secretary of Defense by Lousie Johnson, Democrat. Elected National Commander of the American Legion in 1946, Griffith comes from Uniontown, Pa., went to India as aide to Johnson when Johnson served as special ambassador there.

A biographical sketch issued by the American Legion states: "he does not drink or smoke. His friends describe him as a real man whom honors have left unspoiled, who retains his feet on the ground... he is an ardent champion of Americanism."

The deal which Griffith and Brown helped arrange for the government's purchase of cobalt from Silver Miller Mines, LTD., had another interesting angle. By it, a check for $45,000 was paid to John W. Tovel, president of Silver Miller, as a side commission. This was in addition to the $210,000 paid to Griffith and Brown.

Later, when the contract was abrogated by Larson, the stockholders of Silver Miller fired Tovel, and Tovel quietly put $45,000 back in the company's bank account.

Following this, Theodore Granik, attorney and radio producer, stepped in to clean up Silver Miller Mines, fired the board of directors, and refused to pay Griffith and Brown anything further.

This brought a terrific squawk from the former Assistant Secretary of Defense, who brought in as his representative, ex-Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Johnson buttonholed Granik, demanded that the remaining $625,000 be paid to the 5-percenters.

"These people worked for their money and are entitled to be paid," argued Johnson, who goes to bat hard for his clients. "You wouldn't have OK'd this deal had you been in the government," argued Granik.

"These people say they worked for a month negotiating the contract," countered Johnson.

"But that doesn't entitle them to a total of $835,000," replied Granik. "Study the facts, Louie, and I think you'll agree with me."

Johnson did study the facts, later concurred that his old aide, Griffith, was not entitled to an additional fee of $625,000, though it was agreed that he could keep the $210,000. However, the Justice Department opposes this, demands that all the money be returned to the company before a new government contract is signed.

Note—with the company now overhauled by Granik, a new contract will probably be signed, since the defense department needs cobalt.

RITA'S HORSE

Bartley Crum, attorney for Rita Hayworth, was in Paris the other day, trying to arrange for a divorce settlement from estranged husband Ali Khan. It now looks as if Rita would go through with her divorce, and Crum had gone aboard to arrange for a proposed settlement by Prince Ali on his daughter Princess Yasmin.

Crum was sleeping peacefully in his hotel when the phone rang. It was 2:30 a. m. and a French newspaperman was on the line.

"Is it true," he asked, "that Miss Hayworth has a horse which is being kept at Prince Ali's stables?"

"Yes," replied Crum. "Well, is it also true that Rita's horse is going to have a baby?"

Polio Epidemic Helps Thailand Discover Helping Hand Of MSA

By NEA Foreign Service

BANGKOK, Thailand—(NEA)—Early this Fall, the people of this remote capital city of Thailand, some 700 miles north of Singapore, were faced with a new emergency. They were experiencing their first polio epidemic.

In barely a month, 50 cases of the dread disease were reported and seven victims died. Modern medical equipment was desperately needed—particularly an iron lung. But there was not an iron lung to be found in all of Thailand.

Worried Bangkok health officials finally appealed to American representatives of the Mutual Security Agency. They knew, they said, that the U. S. was having a record polio epidemic also and that iron lungs were scarce. But could the Americans possibly help?

A brief priority cable was immediately sent to MSA headquarters in Washington, D. C. It arrived there early on the morning of Sept. 5. All that day a picked crew of red-tape cutters worked on the request.

By nightfall, with the help of the Defense Department, a lung that was temporarily idle was located in the office of the Army Surgeon General in Japan. Loaned to the Thai government, it was loaded aboard an Air Force plane and flown to Bangkok within 24 hours.

Back in Washington, the hunt for additional spare lungs continued. Another—a dome type machine just completed by a firm in Cambridge, Mass.—was finally turned up by CARE.

Located at his Summer beach home on Sunday, the manufacturer agreed to get the lung on its way the following morning. It was trucked to New York on Monday and by Tuesday was on a commercial airliner bound for Bangkok.

Within an hour after it arrived, the lung was put into use for a severely ill two-year-old. Three days later, the child was out of danger.

Meanwhile, two portable respirators also were flown to Thailand. MSA funds paid for them, as well as the iron lung, at a total cost delivered, of about $9000.

Installed in key Bangkok hospitals, they were immediately made available to polio patients who needed them, regardless of the patient's ability to pay.

The polio epidemic in Bangkok is now over. But Thai doctors

Good Evening...

MAKE IT YOURSELF—With Thanksgiving Day out of the way and Christmas next in line for attention it would be well to consider that gift list.

Or perhaps you may not have a gift list. Some people do not and get by very well. They just make something. Make it in the privacy of their own home.

Right now the newspapers and magazines are offering all sorts of "How to Make It" articles to help the gift-giver solve his problem.

No waiting in line at the stores, no expensive gifts or charge accounts to make you shudder after the holidays—just a few "simple materials", some directions to follow and the gift problem is solved.

VERY INEXPENSIVE—In all of the articles the thought is stressed that by making gifts at home you will have created a personal little something, low in cost, which will be greatly appreciated.

The materials you will need are suggested for one or more articles, usually one. By combining a few of the suggestions your list of needed materials appears as follows:

One gross of Scotch tape, three hundred yards of ribbon, six sheets of sandpaper Grade 00, one small cast iron stove (for the base of a lamp), six pots of glue and one gallon of shellac, one safety pin, several packages of pipe cleaners, one orange, pine cones and sprigs of evergreen, two wallpaper sample catalogs.

Put the materials aside in a small room and begin planning your gift list. You are sure to find something to make everyone happy if not grateful.

REALLY NO PROBLEM—Now that you have the materials in one room, be sure and keep them there.

For it is the tendency in such home manufacturing for some member of the family to discover the ribbon, let us say, and need it immediately. Or the Scotch tape, or the pipe cleaners.

By the time you have decided what you will make for Aunt Sophia you are missing some of the primary ingredients. After all, Aunt Sophia is quite particular and it would be unwise to send her anything but the best from your own little hands.

And when Aunt Sophia wants to clean her pipe she will have so much fun pulling a bent but hand-colored pipe cleaner out of the puzzle package you will give her. She will bless you for your thoughtfulness.

KEEP THEM SIMPLE—Another warning: Do not attempt elaborate creations. Keep your gifts simple. This will help the person visualize you when he receives your gift.

It is wise to make but one gift at a time. This suggestion may seem needless, yet it is a temptation to work for awhile on one article and then another.

Should you find yourself tempted to start a second project before the first is finished, resist strongly. Go right back to the first one. Complete it.

Unless you hold to this rule you will find yourself surrounded by half-finished articles—all too far along to discard and none ready to send out as gifts to friends or relatives.

HANG THE COST—Do not let the thought that what you are making is less expensive than what you will receive deter you from your purpose.

After all, it is the spirit, not the price, that counts at Christmastime.

Yours will be a gift straight from the heart. So twist the pipe cleaners, paste the paper, paint the sandpaper, push clothes into the orange, tie the whole together with ribbons and Scotch tape—and what you got? Well, perhaps we shouldn't have asked that.

There are now two courses open to you. Christmas is drawing nearer day by day. Suddenly the gifts you have made do not look useful, pretty or impressive.

The first course is to send them out anyway, which takes a lot of courage. The second course is to dump them all into one big box, give them to your husband for Christmas, and rush downtown on a last-minute shopping trip.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Are you a hedonist? Probably you are, to a certain extent, although it is not likely that you have ever thought of calling yourself by such a term. And it is less than likely that those of the ancient Greeks who developed the philosophy, some 2,300 years ago, would have admitted you into their society.

A hedonist (HEE-duh-nist), in today's interpretation of the word, is one who is bent on seeking pleasure. And because "pleasure" is a very elastic word, probably everyone of us is a hedonist in one form or another. To those of artistic nature, a scene of rare beauty brings the most exalted pleasure. To others, pleasure is physical. Thomas De Quincey called himself a hedonist because of his love for opium.

But hedonism (HEE-duh-nizm), as it is anciently taught, was thoroughly selfish. The true pleasure-seeker, the old philosophers said, considered no one's feelings but his own. Such, today, are the youngsters who drive along our roads at manic speed regardless of their own safety or the safety of others. Or the bridge player who, as he says, would rather play than eat, disregarding the fatigue of others. You can think of dozens of other examples.

The cult or doctrine was developed by the philosopher Aristippus (AR-is-TIP-us). The term itself is from Greek hedone, meaning "delight."

Don't confuse this term with hegemony which you may also see sometimes. The two are altogether unrelated. This latter is more of a book word and, when spoken on the lecture platform, is usually pronounced according to the whim of the speaker. Dictionaries recognize such pronunciations as HEE'-ji-MOH-ni, he-JEM-uh-ni, and HEK'-i-MOH-ni. The word means "leadership," especially that practiced in ancient Greece, and is derived from Greek hegemony.

Carelessness Isn't Engineered Away

THE recent flurry of accidents on the famed New Jersey Turnpike has caused the customary shaking of heads among those who styled this highway a "dream road."

The pike is a smooth, black ribbon for 118 miles, unbroken by stoplights, grade crossings and frequent roadside entry points. There are less than a score of access roads.

It seems almost incredible that in two days there could have been 60 passenger cars involved, in a series of accidents.

Actually, the surprise ought not to be so great. No road in this world is safe against the human factor. A highway is only as safe as are the habits of the men who use it.

In this instance, dozens of motorists were driving in thick fog—and driving too fast for conditions of visibility. You cannot engineer such carelessness out of a highway. You can only try to educate drivers to tailor their driving to conditions—and compel them by police surveillance until they are so educated.

Adjusting Exertion to Angina Brightens Outlook for Patient

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Translated into English, angina pectoris means pain in the chest. This common disorder is caused by a diseased condition of the arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle.

These blood vessels are called the coronary arteries. When not enough blood passes through them to supply the needs of the heart muscle, pain develops in the chest or nearby.

In angina the coronary arteries do allow some blood to pass through. Consequently, the pain usually does not develop when the person is resting or exercising only slightly; it comes on when the heart muscle is working harder and needs greater quantities of blood.

A person who has angina pectoris thus has to learn how much exertion he or she can take without producing symptoms. Symptoms, in addition to the pain, often include a feeling of anxiety, sweating and shortness of breath.

In years gone by it was often thought that a person with angina pectoris could not live long and could not avoid suffering great discomfort. Both of these frightening beliefs have proved unduly pessimistic.

Most angina victims, if they get proper treatment and adjust their activities, can enjoy life as much as before and have little discomfort and that only rarely.

The outlook for life is not nearly so dismal as was formerly believed. The average life expectancy after the first signs of angina is about eight to 10 years, and many live for more than 25 years.

In addition to the better outlook which is now recognized, methods of improved management are being developed constantly.

ADAPT TO ABILITY

The amount and kind of exercise can be closely adapted to the patient's ability and this is made possible in part by the newer methods of finding out how severe the underlying process really is.

Until research workers have discovered a means of preventing hardening of the arteries, angina pectoris will continue to occur. One should realize, however, that while angina is a serious condition, it does not mean the end of all good things. Sensible adjustment to the new circumstances is necessary, of course, but usually this can be accomplished with great success.

Mamie Gets Look At Her New Home In White House

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, like any woman intending to move into a new home, plans today to look over the place where she and her husband will live after Jan. 20.

The President-elect and his wife have a four-year lease on the 54-room mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue which is known throughout the world as the White House. The lease was given them last Nov. 4 by American voters. It is subject to one four-year term renewal.

First Used In 1800

The White House, first occupied in 1800 by President John Adams and his wife, is a multi-million dollar residence. Twenty-five years ago the District of Columbia tax assessor appraised the house and grounds at 22 million dollars. Just last March repairs and redecorating cost $5,700,000.

The house is presently occupied by a couple from Independence, Mo., the President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

Although Mamie Eisenhower has been a guest at several official functions at the White House when the general was stationed in Washington, Mrs. Truman thought the new tenant might like to see the family quarters or the second floor where the presidential family lives.

Arrangements were made for the present first lady to take the future first lady through them today.

Thus between now and mid-January Mamie can think about how she might want to move the furniture about. Custom gives the presidential family leeway in arranging their own living quarters.

Like Museums

But Mamie would have to go a bit slow on shifting the grand piano or the Washington portraits in the East Room or making any changes in the state dining room. These rooms, and others on the main and lower floors, are museum-like.

Mamie is expected to take the move in stride. As an army wife she has traveled the world on the tide of her husband's career. She moved seven times one year. She once said she had kept house in everything but an igloo.

AS WE LIVE

Home is The Place For Children During Holidays

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D. Where is the best place to spend a holiday when there are young children in the family? That is the question this mother wants me to answer:

(Q) "We have two young children, two and four years old. My parents live several hundred miles away from us and they are anxious to have us spend Christmas with them. My husband thinks it is too much of a trip for the children but I should dearly love to be at home with my parents and relatives at the holiday season. What is your opinion about this matter?"

(A) Your children are too young for the strain of a long trip to be followed by the excitement of a holiday celebration in a strange place with strange people.

It is natural to want to be at your home for the holidays to see your relatives and friends. But this is one of the sacrifices you should make for your children.

Why not invite your parents to visit you for the holidays? It would be a pleasure for them to have a change and to be with you and your children. While it would mean more work than usual, I am sure your mother would help you.

Often a young child develops a cold or is not feeling well at the time parents are ready to set out on a winter holiday. Or the child is likely to be sick when they return from the strain and excitement of the visit, bringing disappointment and extra work to the parents.

Furthermore, parents rarely find holiday visits up to their anticipations when they take young children with them. The complications of travel, of fitting a child into a new and strange environment, and the fretfulness the child shows because he is tired and excited usually counteract anticipated pleasure.

Make a practice of having your holiday celebrations at home, at least until your children are eight or ten years old.

Bolter Says He Votes With GOP

The Republicans should have full responsibility, told a reporter, "I think we can have that responsibility without his vote."

Welker said he would leave comment on possible disciplinary action to others.

Democrats have shown no disposition to contest Republican control of the new Senate even though, without Morse, the Republicans will only outnumber them 48 to 47.

Had Morse decided to vote with the Democrats they could have seized control at best until Republican vice President-elect Richard Nixon took office Jan. 20 and was in position to tilt the scales against them.

Morse said he felt "it would be politically unethical for me to take advantage of the closely drawn lines in the Senate by voting against the Republicans in the matter of Senate organization."

He added, however, that he would "not hesitate to vote against the Republicans on specific legislative issues when I think they are wrong." He has often done so in the past.

Morse said he was perfectly willing to leave to the Senate the determination of his seniority rights and other privileges and declared he has refused to discuss his status with either Republican or Democratic senators.

Sen. Chavez Declared Winner In New Mexico

Wall Street

By RADER WINGET
NEW YORK (AP)—Restricted progress today in the stock market was paced by steel and rails.

Railroads were the first to show activity at higher prices. By the time they tapered off, steel took over and swung ahead. While most other major sections of the market were moderately higher, little sustained activity was apparent.

Higher were New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Baltimore & Ohio, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, Homestake Mining, Allied Chemical, International Paper, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, and Zenith Radio.

The stock market closed last week at a new high of $112.40 in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

Alarming Campaign Costs Scanned By House Investigators

By B. L. LIVINGSTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators today summoned bigwigs of both major political parties for a first-hand account of what some call the "alarming costs" of campaigning in the modern television age.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio newspaper publisher and a veteran Republican political strategist, was slated to be the first witness before a special committee investigating campaign expenditures.

Chairmen Called In
In the coming week, the committee plans to hear from other experts who have "encountered the problems that arise in a video-era campaign," said Chairman Hale Boggs (D-La.).

Among them are Republican National Chairman Arthur Summerfield, who has been named by President-elect Eisenhower as the next postmaster general; Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell; Atty. Gen. James McGranery and James L. McDevitt, director of labor's League for Political Education.

"The recent campaign added jet-steps to the whistle-stops, and expensive TV rhetoric to the fire-side chats," Boggs said. "The enactors of laws which were passed in 1925 and 1939, as were the ones under which we are presently operating, could not have foreseen these drastic changes in campaign techniques and the alarming costs of these techniques."

Limit Three Million
The committee is reviewing the adequacy of existing election laws covering limitations and handling of campaign expenditures with view toward recommending possible changes to the new 83rd Congress.

Under the present law, three million dollars is the legal limit ever, and it was reliably reported that the big steelworkers union, headed by David J. McDonald, would switch allegiance from Haywood to Reuther to avoid any convention showdown, provided it became clear that a Reuther victory was inevitable.

Unorganized Seeks Growth
While Reuther seemed well in the lead in the race for the CIO's top job, the situation was such that any deviations from the Reuther forces could put Haywood across.

Tobin said that since the Taft-Hartley law became effective five years ago, labor unions have lost ground so that with the working force steadily growing, "the ranks of the unorganized have been growing faster than the ranks of the organized."

"In the last few months," Tobin said, "there have been reports of growing resistance to trade union demands among some employers. I do not know what effect the election of Gen. Eisenhower will have on this attitude. But I do not think it is likely to discourage it."

"However constructive and benevolent the general's labor policy may prove to be, some of the men he has carried with him to power are not going to make the atmosphere any more friendly to trade unionism. They may make it a lot more hostile."

High Tension Is Missing In Recount

found the most common error in the ballot boxes was the failure of election inspectors to initial ballots properly. Hundreds of ballots, sometimes whole precincts, were thrown out for that reason.

Will that be found again this year in spite of all the training supposedly given election officials?

Two years ago there was a lot of talk about finding the flaws in the election machinery and making sure that "it can't happen here" again. They're still talking.

Democrats Get Nicked

Two years ago, the Detroit elections chief promised he would have better trained workers for the next election. This year, one of the reasons Alger wants a recount is that Detroit had several thousand untrained election workers on duty.

Two years ago, the Republicans paid the whole shot for the recount in $5-per-precinct deposits. This year, they forced the Democrats to put up the lion's share by only asking for one-fourth of the state be recounted.

Two years ago, the trend ran against the Republicans almost from the start. Will it this year?

BEGINS NEXT WEEK

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Canvassers today ordered the Williams-Alger governorship recount to start Dec. 8 and to proceed on a timetable aimed at saving as much recounting as possible if it is called off before the finish.

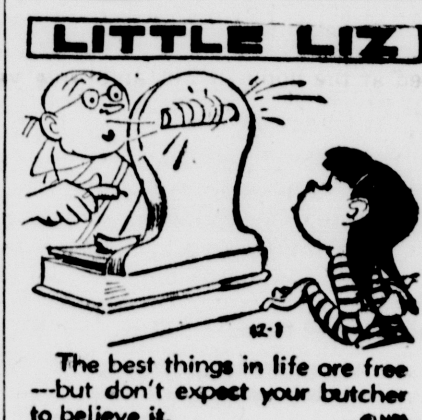

The recount will start Dec. 8 in Wayne County and Dec. 10 in 51 other counties in which Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr., the defeated Republican candidate, petitioned for a review of the ballots.

The remaining 31 counties will start on Dec. 15.

Alfred B. Fitt, the Democratic Party's chief recount attorney, suggested a variation of this procedure, asserting that if a trend favorable to Alger did not develop in the precincts which Alger specified that the Alger forces might want to end the recount before it is completed.

Fitt said he saw no reason for putting many of the remaining 31 counties, most of them small upstate areas, to the expense of starting a recount if it is to be unnecessary.

Pvt. Pedro's Mother Given Holiday Trip; Buddies Pay Bill

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—The little private's mother, his sister and nephew spent the night in the unaccustomed splendor of a hotel in nearby Temple, Tex., last night.

Today they were to board a bus for Mesilla, N. M., and home—a three-day trip into happiness with Pvt. Pedro Lopez and his buddies of the Fourth Training Company a never-to-be-forgotten memory.

Mrs. Refugio Gonzales the guest for Thanksgiving Day of the company at Ft. Hood, home of the rough, tough and ready first Armored Division.

Tree Decorated

She and her daughter, Mrs. Maggie Lopez, and Mrs. Lopez's 4-year-old son, Johnny, had turkey dinner with Pedro and his buddies yesterday at their mess hall.

A scrub cedar tree, decorated clumsily by the dough-faces, made tears well into the brown eyes of Mrs. Gonzales as she gave her "gracias" for Thanksgiving, Christmas and all her holidays rolled into one.

Pedro's buddies, all of them on their meager private's pay, put a dent into their "leave money" to bring Pedro's mother here for Thanksgiving. They also chipped in to buy the little woman a new outfit. And ungrudgingly they did it again for a bouquet of red roses presented her yesterday.

It all began when the little mother—who speaks no English—received a form letter from Maj. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, Ft. Hood commander. He was "pleased to inform you that your son has arrived at Ft. Hood for training with the famed First Armored Division."

Hyde

HYDE—Pvt. Francis Dittich, who served in Korea for 10 months, has been released from the Army and now is at his home here. He was a radio man in the 35th regiment of the 25th Lightning division. Private Dittich was discharged at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Oscar Fredrick of Washington, D. C., recently visited here with his brother, Paul Fredrick. He is with a veterans hospital in Washington.

Miss Mary Bradley of Ishpeming visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porath and with her sister, Ruby Jane Bradley.

James Buerke of Milwaukee spent the Thanksgiving weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Porath.

Evening Party

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Muther entertained a few friends at their home Saturday evening. Joe Pionozek and Mrs. Max Liedke held high in canasta and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Porath. Mrs. Max Liedke also received the guest award. Lunch was served by Mrs. Muther.

Birthday Party

Lou Ann Olson was honored at her home on her ninth birthday anniversary. In games, Joan Dugens, Harvey Porath, Dolores Dahlke and Harvey Porath were winners.

A pink and yellow cake centered table decorations for the lunch, and each guest was given favors. Lou Ann received many gifts.

Those present were Joan Dugens, Harvey Porath, Dolores Dahlke, Mary Lou Picard, Joe Picard, Mary Zappia, Karen Dugens, Donna Dahlke, Donna Mae Picard, Ruby Bradley, Mary Margaret Guenette, Howard Porath, Carl Johnson, Jim Johnson and Laurel Lee Olson.

Cornell

CORNELL—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moon and son, Larry, have returned to their home in Lansing after spending the past week here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Parent of Detroit have returned to their home after spending the hunting season here. Mrs. Parent is the former Hulga Mattson.

Mrs. Rose LaBumbard and son, Homer, of Chicago, visited at the Eugene Gamache home. Mrs. LaBumbard is a sister of Mrs. Gamache.

Fred McFadden, who is attending Michigan State College in East Lansing, spent the holiday vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted McFadden. He had as his guest Robert Hawley of Lansing.

Frank Harrison of Milwaukee returned to his home Wednesday after hunting here for a few days. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison.

Joseph Tuyls of Milwaukee spent a few days here and in Escanaba with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Miron attended the funeral of their sister-in-law Mrs. Edward Hitchie of Iron Mountain, the former Techla Heim of Flat Rock.

Fred Thompson spent the holiday vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Thompson. Fred is attending Berrien Springs Academy.

A large modern barn has been added to the Eugene Miron farm. It has a cinder block foundation and is constructed of aluminum. Dimensions of the new building, which will house many cattle, are 34 by 92 feet.

Somebody read the letter to the frail little mother...translating as they read. She was glad, she said, and wished she could visit him. But she explained in her answer that she had no money, that her boy was her only support, "and I don't have any help — just my God."

Somebody at Ft. Hood heard about it...and that was enough for the resourceful GIs.

Mrs. Gonzales, a black shawl pulled tight around her head, arrived Wednesday, hugged and kissed her boy and apologized for her old dress.

But Thanksgiving Day, Pedro said over and over, "Look at my mother. Isn't she pretty?" The boys had seen about that new dress, and flowers, too.

Pennies, nickels, dimes and dollars from the grimy pockets of the dough faces did it, for the woman who "had no help but from my God."

The kids in Company Four were smiling broadly today.

Pope Pius Names 24 New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY, Italy (AP) — Pope Pius XII has announced the names of 24 new Cardinals of the Catholic church. They will be elevated to the Sacred College in a great consistory to be held Jan. 12.

Only one American appeared on the list of new princes of the church—James Francis McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles.

The long - expected consistory will bring the death - depleted ranks of the Sacred College to its full strength of 70.

First Since 1946

It will be the first since the great postwar consistory of 1946 in which the Pope gave symbolic red hats to 32 prelates — one of the most impressive and splendid ceremonies of the Catholic church.

A native of New York City Archbishop McIntyre is 66 years old. He has been head of the Los Angeles archdiocese since 1948.

The list also included the name of Msgr. Aloysius Stepinac, archbishop of Zagreb, who was conditionally released from prison by Yugoslavia's Communist government last year after he had served five years of a 16-year sentence for alleged collaboration with the Nazis during World War II. Premier Marshal Tito's government has not permitted him to resume his church post.

The new cardinals are from 12 countries. Eleven of them, however, are Italian, bringing the number of Italians in the Sacred College to 227. Non-Italians will number 43.

Two of the new cardinals are from France, two from Spain, and one each from Brazil, Ecuador, Yugoslavia, Ireland, United States, Canada, Poland, Colombia and Germany.

The Canadian prelate honored is Msgr. Paul Emil Leger, archbishop of Montreal.

In addition to Archbishop McIntyre, the new cardinals include:

Msgr. Celso Constantini, titular archbishop of Teodosiopolis.

Msgr. Augusto Alvaro da Silva, archbishop of San Salvador in Bahia.

Msgr. Gateano Cicognani, apostolic nuncio to Spain.

Msgr. Angelo Giuseppe Ronzalli, apostolic nuncio to France.

Msgr. Valerio Valeri, assessor of the sacred congregation for the Oriental church.

Msgr. Pietro Ciriaci, apostolic nuncio to Portugal.

Msgr. Francesco Borgonconi, apostolic nuncio to Italy.

Msgr. Maurice Felin, archbishop of Paris.

Mickey Mouse Nears His 25th Anniversary

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's hard to believe, but the mighty Mickey Mouse will reach his quarter-century mark next year.

Back in 1928, the show world witnessed the opening of a miniature epic called "Steamboat Willie." The star was an eager little fellow named Mickey Mouse. Few realized that this mouse would labor and bring forth a multimillion-dollar industry.

Then as now, Mickey's guide, friend and voice was Walt Disney. The film wizard had a myriad of projects to help celebrate his brainchild's 25th anniversary. One of these is titled "Mickey's Birthday Party." It will be a 45-minute film in which the celebrated rodent will review some of his past hits.

Pictures For 1956
There are many other impressive items on the Disney agenda. Walt himself seemed a little overwhelmed by them as we chatted over lunch.

"We're working on pictures that won't be released until 1956," he remarked. "It amazes even me sometimes. Right now I'd just like to take a long vacation. But I can't do it. I've got 700 or 800 people working for me. I can't ever shut down."

Despite his protests about the work, he showed his obvious delight in his projects as he talked about them. One of his favorite subjects is the true life adventure series, which has depicted the lives of the seals, beavers, elk and other wild life.

"We were just feeling our way along at first," he admitted. "But now we've hit our stride and we know how to film them and put them together. I plan to put some of them out at feature length. The first will be 'The Living Desert,' a picture about the great American desert."

Nature Limitless
"There are no limits to the subjects we can find in nature, as long as we do not limit our imagination in dealing with them."

The Disney program shapes up tentatively like this:
1953—"Peter Pan," all-cartoon feature; "Bear Country," a true life short feature; "Mickey's Birthday Party"; "The Living Desert"; "Ben and Me," the longest (20 minutes) short cartoon Disney has made—a $300,000 gamble; "The Sword and the Rose," live film made in England.

1954—"The Prairie Story," a feature-length study of the American prairie; "The Lady and the Tramp," cartoon feature; "Rob Roy," another English-made live action.

1955—"Sleeping beauty," cartoon feature; "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," the Jules Verne adventure yarn.

1956—"Hiawatha," cartoon feature.

Year 1953 To See Big Housing Boom

By T. E. APPLEGATE
For Sam Dawson
NEW YORK (AP)—It now appears certain 1952 will see the starting of the second largest number of housing units in history.

Through October "starts" on non-farm residential units ran about 15,000 ahead of the first ten months last year.

Because of seasonal factors, November and December normally bring a drop in home building volume. This year's total will fall far short of 1950's record 1,396,000 units, but is expected to exceed the 1,088,800 started in 1951.

Predictions that this year's volume will be exceeded are rare although many, including leading economists and private home building leaders, think the 1953 total will top the million-unit mark for the fifth successive year.

Some others, however, take a more cautious view.

They report that in many sections home buyers are becoming more price-conscious, with builders having greater difficulty in selling homes priced above $12,500. And they say the building of more than 4½ million housing units in the past four years has been more than adequate to meet residential needs of our growing population.

Three Best Posted Soldiers In Korea Are On Way Home

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SEOUL (AP)—Three soldiers who call themselves the "best informed GIs in Korea" are on the way home.

The three have read millions of words of news copy over telephones to news offices in Tokyo since June 15, 1951, when headquarters of the Far East Command Censorship Division took over the transmission of news dispatches from Korea.

Had Ringside Seats
They are Cpl. John J. Kuptz of Chicago, Cpl. Calvin L. Lingler of Hamilton, O., and Pfc. Clifford L. Fallon of Louisville, Ky. All are 23 years old.

For almost a year and a half the three have had a ringside seat at all the big stories in Korea—from the peace conferences to the war itself.

News stories about Korea are funneled through GHQ censorship, then by telephone or teletype to various news agencies and special news representatives in Tokyo for relay to the U. S. and the rest of the world.

Important news is handled by telephone. The Eighth Army has trained a crew of soldiers to handle and read news copy over the radio telephone.

"One thing about this job," said Fallon, "I've certainly learned to read aloud. I think it has helped my vocabulary."

"I guess we guys are about the best informed GIs in Korea," he said. "We get the news even before the newspaper editors."

When a hot story is breaking the three soldiers are swept into the frantic tempo of the newspaper business.

Fallon has been on the job 16 straight hours at a time. During the White Horse Mountain battle this fall he talked on the phone seven consecutive hours.

Once he spent 30 days at the press train in Munsan, relaying news stories of the peace talks hot off the typewriters of Allied reporters. He considers it one of his best experiences. When he gets back to Louisville he will try to get into the newspaper business.

Nope, he'll go to work for a trucking line.

Kuptz said he was impressed mostly by the "full and complete coverage" by war correspondents. He said the story that interested him most was the capture of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, former Koje Island commander, by Communist prisoners last summer.

"That was a real hot one," he recalled. "I'm glad I had a hand in getting the news out."

What Lingler remembers most fondly is the time he was the only enlisted man to attend Vice President Alben Barkley's news conference in Korea last year.

It was a high-brass gathering, attended by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, South Korean President Syngman Rhee and Eighth Army staff officers.

"I disguised myself as a reporter," Lingler said. "I let my beard grow for two days. I put on some sloppy fatigues, left the buttons open on the pockets and wore low shoes, strictly against regulation. Then I put a cigarette in my mouth and walked into the conference with the correspondents. Nobody spotted me."

"I let that cigarette dangle from my upper lip during the whole session. When I came out I got my picture in the newsreels."

Pet Bear Holes Up For Winter Snooze And Spurns All Lures

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Another attempt was scheduled today to recapture Bosco, a 2-year-old black bear holed up in a den and evidently reluctant to have his winter's snooze disturbed.

Beverly Miller of Kansas City, Bosco's owner and operator of a drive-in theater here where the animal had been exhibited, planned to direct the hunt, with several of his employees participating.

Bosco, caught in Canada as a cub, spent just about all his life in captivity. He escaped three weeks ago and wasn't seen until the den on a farm south of here.

Highway patrolmen and volunteers tried to lure Bosco into a cage, but the bear, apparently all set to hibernate, ignored them. The patrol then turned the job over to Miller.

Soldiers Hear Voices From Home Over Radio Armed Forces Service

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP)—A Detrouer in Korea, Pfc. Charles Hammond, wanted to hear the sounds on Woodward Ave., during a parade.

Airman Richard C. Powers, in Alaska, asked for familiar voices from Adrian, Seaman F. J. Maciejewski, in Germany, wanted to hear from the folks in Alpena.

These requests from overseas are typical of those received daily, according to directors of the Armed Forces Radio Service in Los Angeles.

One From Ishpeming
They are in response to a new program, "Way Back Home," which daily presents communities throughout America on 60 overseas Armed Forces radio stations.

Greetings, news, music and other familiar sounds of home already have been heard from Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw, Pontiac, Adrian, Mt. Pleasant, Ishpeming, Kalamazoo and Holland.

Flint, Muskegon, Jackson and Battle Creek will be featured in December. Alma will be heard in January and Grand Rapids and Benton Harbor have broadcasts scheduled for February.

Programs from Manistee and East Lansing now are on hand in tape form awaiting transcription, schedulink and overseas flight. State cities not yet heard by

Skull 8,500 Years Old Found In Jordan Valley

By T. R. LURIE

JERUSALEM (AP)—A human skull about 8,500 years old and the remains of a necklace made of small seashells have been found at Sha'ar Hagolan in the Jordan Valley by Israel Exploration Society excavators under the direction of Dr. Moshe Stekelis of the Hebrew University.

Sha'ar Hagolan is a collective settlement (kibbutz) on the banks of the Yarmuk River near the point where Syria and Jordan meet on Israel's eastern frontier.

Remains of Fire
It was here two years ago that Dr. Stekelis uncovered the remains of a stone age culture which he named the Yarmukian civilization. The skull was found early this month near an open hearth. The remains of a fire used by this Neolithic man were still visible.

Each of the seashells that made up the Yarmukian necklace had a tiny hole bored in its apex for stringing. The shells are identical with those found on the shore of the Mediterranean today.

Dr. Stekelis is completing a short excavation season in which he has determined the stratification of this site as divided between the Early and Middle Bronze Ages and the Neolithic period. At the upper level he found a courtyard surrounded by chambers with a good deal of pottery typical of the Early and Middle Bronze Ages. The Neolithic fireplace was found five feet deeper, surrounded by the bones of gazelle-like animals.

Skills Indicated
Several hundred small sharp-pointed flints were found in one spot. This large concentration of tools, which were either arrowheads or small boring instruments, indicate a specialization of skills. One family would have used only a few flint spears, arrows and other such tools.

The new finds will considerably enrich Sha'ar Hagolan's prehistoric museum which already contains in what originally was a bomb shelter, one of the largest collections of stone age tools, flints and primitive stone carvings in any museum anywhere.

An early request for bids on supplying Christmas turkeys for city employees was urged by members of the City Council at an adjourned meeting Friday night.

Insurance refunds are used by the city to pay for the turkeys. City Manager H. W. Heideman said that a substantial refund check was due again this year because of the city's accident record.

The council also rescinded a motion abandoning a short alley at the Conservation Department's equipment headquarters, Main St. Further information on the existence of such an alley and the city's title to it is required before action to vacate the property is taken.

Purchase of a 2½-ton GMC truck from Curran Motor Sales was authorized by the Manistique City Council at an adjourned meeting Friday night.

Quotation on the truck, a 1953 model, was $3,738.93. Two other local auto dealers submitted bids.

Purchase of a second truck, requested by City Manager H. W. Heideman, was deferred pending additional study of municipal truck needs.

The city manager stressed the city's need of two medium trucks, stating that two light trucks in use for many years were no longer in condition for service. The trucks, he said, were required for snow removal, and plowing, stone and sand hauling and other city services.

Councilmen, however, decided to study further the need of a second truck and if needed, whether a light or a medium truck was required.

Salaried Staff

Salaried employees of the city were granted a wage increase of $8 monthly, retroactive to Nov. 1, at an adjourned meeting of the Manistique City Council Friday night.

Monthly employees, who include department heads and office personnel, had requested the increase in writing early in November following the granting of a boost of 5 cents an hour to hourly workers.

In approving the increase the council also voted to make a study of monthly employee salaries to eliminate any inequities existing. A report of salaries paid such employees for several years was ordered prepared by the city manager and city treasurer as a guide for council study.

Ordinance On Bonds Approved

An ordinance establishing procedures for floating a water department revenue bond issue of $250,000 was approved by the Manistique City Council at an adjourned session Friday evening.

Money provided by the bonds will be used to finance rehabilitation of Manistique's water supply system, including construction of a pumping station and reservoir at Intake Dam and installation of water mains.

Bonds will be dated Feb. 1, 1953, and money is expected to be available by March 1. The issue, callable under certain conditions, will run for 30 years, with first principal and interest payment set for 1955 and final payment slated in 1983. The maximum interest rate established in the ordinance is 4½ percent.

A companion resolution to the ordinance also was approved, directing the city clerk to publish a notice of the sale of bonds and setting up the form of notice. Date of the sale will be determined later.

Both Manistique banks were established as depositories for bond sale proceeds.

Escanaba Beats Marinette 70-60; Boddy Pumps In 38

Fred Boddy, Eskymo court magician, paced Coach Burt Gustafson's Escanaba cagers to a clutch victory over a game but crippled Marinette basketball team here Saturday night. A near-capacity crowd saw Escanaba pull away in the second half to win 70-60.

Boddy ripped holes in the Marines defense from the center slot. His bag of scoring tricks produced 38 points against the stunned Marines who were unable to follow Boddy's faking, feinting antics under the basket.

The Eskymos showed great improvement over the opening loss to St. Joe. Boddy got valuable scoring assistance from guard Bill LeMire (11 points) and forward John Peterson (10 points).

Marinette played without the services of four lanky cagers who were counted on for regular berths this season. Two are out as the result of injuries sustained in a hayride accident and two others are still laid up with football injuries. All four of the missing Marines are six-footers or better.

Fast Start

Boddy didn't waste any time getting started on his scoring spree. He slipped five field goals and two free throws through the laces in the first period to lead the Eskymos to a 16-15 edge.

Marinette fought back with big Paul Thompson, 6-2 center, leading the way and knotted the score at 31-31 at halftime.

It was extremely close throughout the first and second quarters. Escanaba scored first on a free throw by John Peterson and led by a slim margin until late in the period when the Marines managed a 13-13 tie. Boddy scored a late goal to give the Eskymos the one-point lead at the end of the period.

The second quarter was a repeat of the initial period with the Eskymos opening up an eight-point spread at one stage. But a desperate shot from mid-court by Tom Wallfired tied the score at 31-31 as the gun sounded to end the first half.

Marinette went ahead 32-31 and 34-31 in the early part of the third period but a pair of field goals by LeMire put the Eskymos back on top moments later.

Boddy, who had 21 points at the half, again found the range for five buckets and two free throws in the third frame. Dick Peterson's cashed in on four of five free throws in the period which ended with Escanaba leading 58-48.

Pull Away

Escanaba pulled steadily away in the last period in which all five Eskymos contributed to the scoring. Boddy hit for two baskets early in the period to boost his total to 37 points and added a free throw before fouling out with three and a half minutes remaining.

The Eskymos slowed the pace somewhat in the final period and held Marinette to a dozen points, lowest scoring quarter in the game.

Thompson finished with 20 points to lead Coach Bruce Basler's cagers on the scoreboard.

Both teams scored 20 points from the free throw line in the closely contested game which saw 48 personal fouls called. The Eskymos missed 20 shots from the gift line while the Marines failed to hit on 19.

The 70-point scoring total was one of the highest in Escanaba's cage history. The win gives Escanaba a 1-1 record in play this season. Marinette now has two losses.

In the preliminary game between the Eskymo and Marine junior varsity teams, Marinette came out on top 39-34 after a tight battle.

Escanaba travels to Marquette Friday night for its next start.

Packers Idle

The Rams tied the idle Lions for first place in the National Conference, turning back the San Francisco 49ers, 34-21. Green Bay, homeless Dallas and the Chicago Bears were not scheduled.

Cleveland closes out its campaign on the road. Following its meeting with the Cards, the Browns wind up in New York. The Giants must beat Washington next Sunday to stay alive.

The Lions tangle with the in-and-out Bears Sunday and end the season with a scrap against weak Dallas. The Rams battle tough Green Bay Sunday and follow up with dangerous Pittsburgh.

Strohs Is New Keg Champion

DETROIT (AP)—The bowling world has a new five-man, match-game champion today. It is the Stroh's team of Detroit, which came roaring from behind Sunday to knock the Detroit Pfeiffers off the throne they had occupied since 1949.

Buzz Fazio's Stroh outfit entered the weekend of play 261 pins behind the champion Pfeiffer outfit captained by Lou Sielaff. In Saturday's six games Stroh's wiped out the deficit and went into a 64-pin lead.

Sunday they completely outclassed the veteran champions, who twice before had turned back their bids for the crown. Both teams represent Detroit breweries. Besides the two Stroh bids, the Pfeiffers had turned back challenges by Cleveland Gold Bond, Chicago Meister Brau and Chicago King Louie teams since winning the world championship from Chicago Tavern Pale in November, 1949.

Chunky Eddie Lubanski, a 29-year-old ex-baseball pitcher, was the hero of the Stroh victory. He had a 22.4 average for the 12 games this weekend. He ended the 24-game meeting with an average of 208.5.

Prystai Leading Wings' Comeback

(By The Associated Press) The rise of the Detroit Red Wings into contention for the National Hockey League pennant coincides with the insertion of Metro Prystai as center between left winger Ted Lindsay and right winger Gordie Howe.

Until Prystai moved in between the two high-scoring wings, Detroit was stumbling around. But now the flamed-shirted Motor City outfit has an excellent chance to become the first team in history to win five straight games.

The Wings moved into second place, one point behind the pacesetter Hawks Sunday night by trimming the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-1. The Hawks battled the last place New York Rangers to a 1-1 tie while the Boston Bruins knocked off the Montreal Canadiens, 3-1.

Purdue Wins College Sailing Championship

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan finished third in the Midwest intercollegiate Sailing Dinghy Championships on Lake Michigan in freezing temperatures here over the weekend.

Purdue won the event with 280 points. George Washington University was second with 254. Michigan had 236, and Wisconsin finished fourth with 227. Michigan State came in seventh with 199.

Individual honors were captured by Purdue's Jim Roberts, of South Haven, Mich., with 139 points.

Spartan trainer Jack Heppinstall was an outstanding soccer player and track man in his native England before coming to this country in 1914.

Escanaba came near matching its all-time scoring record in Saturday night's basketball game against Marinette. If we remember rightly the Eskymos last year beat Kingsford 71 to 54 and thereby set what was believed to be their highest scoring production in history. It was a record for the Kingsford gym.

Stan Sosnouski, Marquette cage coach, got a good look at the Eskymos Saturday night. He watched the game from the stands and was very impressed with the performance of Fred Boddy who fed 38 points through the nets. "One of the best around and he'll give any team a lot of trouble," was his comment after the game. Escanaba plays Marquette in its next start Friday night at the Redman gym.

A total of 76 Upper Peninsula high schools will be competing on basketball courts when all teams have opened their seasons by Dec. 9. That's the same number as last year, but the number of teams in each of the four classifications that determines entrance in district tournament play next March has been revised. Class D will have 24 teams, Class C has 16, Class B 18 and Class E 18.

Leonard Sharkey, one of this area's former amateur boxing greats, is back in Manistique after being discharged from the hospital in Grayling last summer. Sharkey was one of the best in the business a few years back and still follows the game very closely.

Final statistics from Michigan State reveal that Menominee's Billy Wells finished the season as the top Spartan ground gainer. He carried the mail 118 times for 585 yards, an average of 4.9 per trip. Don McAuliffe was second among 10 backs listed with a 531 total on 98 carries. Wells scored six touchdowns for the unbeaten Spartans.

Spartan Coach Faces Cage Rebuilding Job

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—A major rebuilding job faces Michigan State basketball Coach Pete Newell this year.

"Just say that we hope to do a little better than last year," said Newell when asked about his Big Ten chances.

Last year Michigan State won 13 and lost nine and tied for fifth in the conference.

"We may scare a few teams though if some of our sophomores shape up well," Newell added.

Newell has a young squad to work with this year. Half of his 18-man varsity squad is made up of sophomores. He has only three seniors returning.

Stackhouse Back

Keith Stackhouse, junior forward from Plymouth, Ind., is back to fill one starting position. Although he worked only part-time last year Stackhouse was the leading MSC scorer with 236 points.

Also back is little "Mr. Five by Five," guard Rickey Ayala. A leg injury kept Ayala out of play during the tail end of the 1951 season. Newell, who looks for heart instead of height, plans to start Ayala at guard. If he does Rickey will be the smallest man in conference play.

Others returning are forwards Denny Hartman and Erick Furseth and guards Jim Schlatter and Dick Wesling.

Soph Center

Newell will have to start a sophomore center this year. His most promising operators look like Bob (All-American Boy) Armstrong, six foot eight inches tall, from Holland, and Bob McCullough, six foot seven, from Grosse Pointe.

Al Ferrari, a six foot two and a half inch sophomore from New York, shapes up as the most promising youngster among the newcomers. Ferrari currently is slated to start at forward.

Stackhouse will get the other forward slot, Armstrong will be at center and Ayala and Wesling probably will start at guard.

The squad looks like a better shooting team than last year but, except for center, lacks the height that pays off in ball control.

The MSC season opens against Marquette Saturday. First Big Ten game will be with Northwestern Dec. 27.

All-Star Hockey Vote Opens Today

Voting for the all-star Northern Michigan Hockey League players opens today. Escanaba Hawk fans are invited to submit ballots to the Daily Press sports desk naming their favorite Hawks to join the league team which will meet the Portage Lakes Pioneers at Marquette later this month. Six Hawks will play on the team.

Robinson Hurls Race-Predjudice Charge At Yanks

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Even before the first draft choice had been made at the opening of the annual winter meetings today, two of baseball's stormiest figures—Jackie Robinson and Leo Durocher—leaped into the headlines.

Baseball folks were still busy checking in at the various hotels here when word came from New York that Robinson, brilliant Negro second baseman of the Brooklyn Dodgers, had accused the New York Yankees of being prejudiced against members of his race. The infuriated World Champions promptly issued a heated denial of the discrimination charges.

Durocher, reportedly contemplating quitting the game for a whirl at the movies, squashed the rumors with a statement that he intended to remain as manager of the New York Giants as long as Horace Stoneham remained the owner of the club.

While the major league folk were digesting the Robinson-Durocher morsels, the minors were setting the stage for their 51st convention that will last through Thursday and cover subjects as radio and television, the bonus laws, the waiver rule, the high school rule, player recall rule, realignment of the leagues and clubs and night baseball. The majors will take over Friday and convene through Sunday.

Gonzaga Spoils Lawrence Tech's Basketball Debut

DETROIT (AP)—Lawrence Tech had its 1952 basketball debut spoiled by a late rush of Gonzaga here last night. The score was 66-60.

The Gonzaga victory also spoiled the debut of Coach Walter (Scottie) McConachie, who took over the Lawrence coaching reins from Don Riddle when the latter became athletic director.

And it marked the first time Tech has been beaten on its home court at the Fairground Coliseum in more than 20 games.

With only two minutes to go the Tech Blue Devils led, 60-59, but Bob Richardson made two quick layup shots good and Gonzaga was ahead to stay.

Cleveland, Detroit Have Best Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, who have won six straight divisional titles, and the Detroit Lions, who have captured only one, stand a good chance today of meeting for the National Football League championship.

Cleveland tops the circuit's American Conference by one game and has two left to play. The Browns can assure themselves of no worse than a tie for the crown by beating the Chicago Cardinals next Sunday.

Softer Schedule The Lions and Los Angeles Rams shore the lead in the National Conference but Detroit's remaining schedule appears softer than that of the defending champions.

If Detroit and Los Angeles tie for the conference title, they will meet Dec. 21 at Detroit in a special playoff game.

Cleveland snapped a three-way tie for the American conference lead Sunday by smearing the

Minnesota's Giel Leads All-Western Grid Team

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—Potent Paul Giel, Minnesota's teen-age half-back, was a mature second-year man today on the 1952 All-Western football squad announced by the Associated Press.

The 19-year-old Gopher jack-of-all-trades was one of four repeaters of the 22-man 1951 team selected with the help of coaches, scouts and football writers.

Others were Oklahoma's brilliant center, Tom Catlin—with Giel an offensive team choice—guard Bob Kennedy of Wisconsin and halfback Fred Bruney of Ohio State, defensive appointees. The nation's top-ranked squad, Michigan State, placed four of their all-victorious crew—end Paul Dekker on offense, and end Edwin Luke, guard Frank Kush and safety man James Ellis on defense. Michigan placed one man on the defensive platoon, linebacker Roger Zatkoff.

Giel has another year of college competition left and promises to be one of the few nominees to make the AP All-Western three years running.

Picked with Giel for the first team offensive backfield were quarterback Eddie Crowder, and halfback Billy Vessels of Oklahoma, and Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's more-than-man-sized 19-year-old fullback.

Wisconsin landed another player—offensive tackle Dave Suminski—to rank with star-laden Ohio State and Oklahoma who placed three each.

Lettner On Defense Oklahoma's trio—Catlin, Crowder and Vessels—all were placed on the offensive team. Ohio State had two men qualified for the attack platoon—guard James Reichenbach and tackle George Jacoby—and one for the defensive aggregation, Bruney.

Crowder's place at quarterback on the first-string offensive eleven was closely challenged by Illinois' pass-master, Tom O'Connell, and Ted Marchibroda of the University of Detroit.

Johnny Lettner, Notre Dame's vigorous, versatile back, was given first-team defensive backfield honors along with Michigan State's Jim Ellis.

Defense Stressed By Navy's Coach

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—"A lot of coaches say 'let's get the ball,'"

This was the way Coach Eddie Erdelatz of Navy today expressed his preference of emphasizing the defense in football. His latest example was Saturday's 7-0 defeat of Army at Philadelphia.

In the three years he's coached Navy, Army has scored only nine points in the classic between the academies.

The Army never had the ball inside the Navy 20. It was obvious to all of the 102,000 people in Municipal Stadium as the game progressed it was going to take a miracle for Army to score.

The 39-year-old Erdelatz came to Navy in 1950 for his first head coaching job with defenses from the San Francisco 49ers.

"At San Francisco, defense was my entire job," he recalls. "We had the lightest line in the league and the best defensive record."

1952 College Grid Season Closes

Only Bowl Games Are Left

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Except for the big bowl games a month from today, college football has written finis to the 1952 campaign—one that, strangely, lived up to most pre-season expectations.

Everyone knew Michigan State and Georgia Tech were loaded, and these two outfits proved the experts right clear down to the wire. The Spartans finished the

Marchibroda Is Leading Gainer

DETROIT (AP)—Sharp-shooting, hard-running quarterback Ted Marchibroda of the University of Detroit has snatched the total offense record of collegiate football for 1952.

Marchibroda ran up 147 yards in a losing cause against Houston Saturday to bring his total for the season to 1,613.

That topped the efforts of more publicized backs playing with better known teams—Tommy O'Connell, of Illinois, with 1,724 yards, and Don Heinrich, of Washington, with 1,652.

Marchibroda's yardage was rolled up as Detroit dropped six of its nine games, the last one 33-19, as Houston rolled to the Missouri Valley Conference championship. In conference play Detroit won only one of four.

The Detroit quarterback, a transfer from St. Bonaventure which dropped football last season, scored one touchdown and set up another while rolling up his 147 yards against Houston.

Texas Is National Junior Tennis Champ

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sam Giammalva, 16-year-old University of Texas student, won the Junior singles championship Sunday and shared top honors in the doubles of the National Junior Indoor Tennis Tournament.

An Iowa City boy, Arthur Andrews, turned the same trick in the boys' division of the tourney.

season's business as the only undefeated, united major team in the country.

The Spartans now have won 24 straight while the Engineers, who wound up operations with a 23-9 victory over Georgia Saturday, have not tasted defeat in 25 games and own a 16-game winning streak. They'll meet a severe test Jan. against Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Ole Miss, tied twice, also is undefeated, so this will be the only bowl game involving teams that have not been whipped.

Three Disappointments The biggest disappointments, perhaps, were Illinois, California and Texas Christian.

The Illini were supposed to be the class of the Big Ten, but even at the start they showed the experts to be wrong and could do no better than compile a 4-5 record. Wisconsin was rated second best, but emerged with the Rose Bowl nomination on the basis of a 6-2-1 season.

California was regarded as the likely heir to the Pacific Coast Conference crown, but Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears did not reckon with Southern California, and to great defensive powers that also could score and the league race and bid to the Rose Bowl was not decided until they met and Southern Cal won two weeks ago.

It was risky business predicting that Texas Christian would win in the Southwest Conference, a loop that rarely follows form. TCU dropped its first two games, then steadied, but was no match for Texas, which lost only to Notre Dame and Oklahoma.

Terps Unique

Maryland, which was ranked right behind Michigan State before the season got under way, is in a unique position. It would be unfair to call the Terps a disappointment, even though they lost their last two games, to Mississippi and Alabama. Before that, they had won seven in a row and looked like champions all the way.

They apparently suffered a let-down when the Southern Conference declined to waive the rule prohibiting postseason games.

To Notre Dame went the title of "upset king
